W. A. CLARK PAYS $40,000 FOR PICTURE

Jules Breton's "Harvesting the Poppies" Brings Record Price at Mendelssohn Sale.

A sale of modern pictures at Mendelssohn Hall last night attracted people of fashion, picture dealers, politicians and other notables.

United States Senator W. A. Clark, without the picture dealers who usually give him advice, bought Jules Breton's "Harvesting the Poppies" for $40,000. At the Mattheisson sale in 1902 this picture had been sold for $36,500. Last night its price was the highest of the evening.

Other well-known men who bought canvases were C. K. G. Billings, J. R. De La Mar, W. L. Wertheimer and Richard Canfield's former manager, Dave Bucklin.

One hundred and three numbers of the catalogue brought $138,420.

Titles of pictures, painters, prices and buyers are given below:

"Sheep," Jacques, $1,050; Herman Schaus.
 "The Pasture," Van Marcke, $1,000; W. E. Wertheimer.
 "The Streamlet," Daubigny, $2,650; Knoedler & Co.
 "On the Shore of the Lake," Corot, $1,150; Senator Clark.
 "Landscape," Jules Dupre, $2,500; Senator Clark.
 "Pond Among the Willows," Corot, $1,450; Burnett (agent).
 "He Loves Me, He Loves Me Not," Diaz, $2,350; W. E. Wertheimer.
 "Along the Quay," Jien, $2,550; W. E. Wertheimer.
 "The Sheep Pasture," De Bock, $1,000; D. W. Bucklin.
 "Off Flushing," Clays, $1,175; C. K. G. Billings.
 "A Breezy Day in Summer," Daubigny, $7,500; A. Toth.
 "Forest of Fountainbleau," Diaz, $3,800; Herman Schaus.
 "Sheep in Pasture," Jacques, $4,600; Scott & Fowels.
 "Moorish Shelter and Escort," Schreyer, $10,000; J. R. de la Mar.
 "Harvesting the Poppies," Jules Breton, $40,000; Senator Clark.
 "Calling the Ferry," Ridgway Knight, $2,050; W. MacDonald.
 "The Gleaners," Jules Breton, $4,600; J. R. de la Mar.
 "Magdalena," Leubach, $2,600; F. Dessin.
 "Musin," Antoine Auguste Ernest Hebert, $330; Senator Clark.
 "Admiration," Henner, $1,850; Mrs. J. O'Conner.
 "Street Scene in Cairo," $1,025; P. MacCormic.
 "The Casino at Monte Carlo," Beraud, $4,000; J. R. de la Mar.
 "The Victim of Coquetry," Von Blaas, $2,550; J. R. de la Mar.

CONDITIONS OF SALE

1. The highest Bidder to be the Buyer, and if any dispute arise between two or more Bidders, the Lot so in dispute shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

2. The Auctioneer reserves the right to reject any bid which is merely a nominal or fractional advance, and therefore, in his judgment, likely to affect the Sale injuriously.

3. The Purchasers to give their names and addresses, and to pay down a cash deposit, or the whole of the Purchase-money, if required, in default of which the Lot or Lots so purchased to be immediately put up again and re-sold.

4. The Lots to be taken away at the Buyer's Expense and Risk within twenty-four hours from the conclusion of the Sale, and the remainder of the Purchase-money to be absolutely paid, or otherwise settled for to the satisfaction of the Auctioneer, on or before delivery; in default of which the undersigned will not hold themselves responsible if the lots be lost, stolen, damaged, or destroyed, but they will be left at the sole risk of the Purchaser.

5. While the undersigned will not hold themselves responsible for the correctness of the description, genuineness, or authenticity of, or any fault or defect in, any Lot, and make no Warranty whatever, they will, upon receiving previous to date of Sale trustworthy expert opinion in writing that any Painting or other Work of Art is not what it is represented to be, use every effort on their part to furnish proof to the contrary; failing in which, the object or objects in question will be sold subject to the declaration of the aforesaid expert, he being liable to the Owner or Owners thereof, for damage or injury occasioned thereby.

6. To prevent inaccuracy in delivery, and inconvenience in the settlement of the Purchases, no Lot can, on any account, be removed during the Sale.

7. Upon failure to comply with the above conditions, the money deposited in part payment shall be forfeited; all Lots uncleared within one day from conclusion of Sale shall be re-sold by public or private sale, without further notice, and the deficiency (if any) attending such re-sale shall be made good by the defaulter at this Sale, together with all charges attending the same. This Condition is without prejudice to the right of the Auctioneer to enforce the contract made at this Sale, without such re-sale, if he thinks fit.

8. The undersigned are in no manner connected with the business of the cartage or packing and shipping of purchases, and although they will afford to purchasers every facility for employing careful carriers and packers, they will not hold themselves responsible for the acts and charges of the parties engaged for such services.

WITHOUT A HOME

A SMALL girl carrying a basket of wools on one arm, and holding in the other hand a large paper fireplace ornament, is walking along the stone footpath of a narrow, arcaded street. The sunlight falls full upon her head, casting a luminous shadow on the flagging. Her head is inclined slightly to one side, and she looks out of the picture with a sad expression on her face. The background is a row of arches, under which a number of people are examining the shop windows.

Signed at the lower right, A. E. MULREADY.

SUNSET

THIS is a study of a lake in a wild mountainous region at sunset. On the left is a wooded point, and on the right a great crag, with trees in autumn foliage at its base. In the distance, against a brilliant sunset sky, is a pyramidal mountain, with the suggestion of a distant range beyond. The sunset glow is reflected on the surface of the lake, and in the immediate foreground a heron perches on the trunk of a dead tree.

AN IDLE HOUR

It is a corner of an old town in Central Italy, where a maze of streets, part of them like tunnels, branch in many directions between high façades, overhung here and there by projecting cornices and rough awnings. From the near foreground a rough flight of steps leads between broken old walls and rude dwellings to an upper terrace or house-top, where two women are seen against the sky, apparently leaning over the parapet and gossiping with their friends. Part way down the steps a single hen, taking advantage of the absence of the occupants, is descending to seek food in the room below, the opening to which shows on the landing at the right. Tiled roofs and rude gables project out of the picture at the top and cover the sky, with the exception of two small areas in which the sunlit cumuli contrast strongly with the deep shadow on the houses.

A ROUGH, pebbly beach, extending across the foreground and sweeping around to the right and then to the left, enclosing a narrow bay, is bounded in the distance by rocky promontories. Drawn up on the beach are numerous fishing boats, and others float in the water near the shore. In the foreground two fishermen are engaged in spreading out their nets, and a third is hauling a seine from the water. The beach slopes gently up to a low ridge partly covered by grass, upon which stands a number of fishermen's cottages with boat houses and other buildings. THE FIRST CIDER

A CIDER mill, the screw of which is turned by a large wheel at the top, stands in a large, low room with rough-timbered ceiling. Standing on a platform a laborer turns the wheel, and the master, kneeling near the tub into which the cider is filtered through a basket, pours a few drops of the liquid on the outstretched hands of an infant, held in his mother's arms nearby. On the left a small boy sits on the platform eating from an earthen bowl, and near him is a youngster holding a bottle, which he evidently expects to fill from the tub, while a little girl standing near her mother on the right is quietly interested in the cider mill. HALT BY THE RIVER

THE motive of this picture was evidently found in Kansas or Nebraska at the time of the early settlement of the West. In the foreground on the low grassy shore of a broad river stands a prairie schooner at the point where the trail enters the stream. The emigrants are scattered about it, and nearby the four draught oxen are feeding under large trees which grow near the water's edge. A single horseman, who is crossing the stream by the ford, stops to water his animal in the shallows near the shore, and across the river the sun is just disappearing behind the trees in the distance. On the left is a line of lofty crags in the mysterious glow of early sunset, and the cirrus clouds, floating high in the heavens, are touched here and there by a ruddy light.

LANDSCAPE

A SMALL whitewashed château, surrounded by a high wall, stands on the edge of a large marshy tract in which grow tall, slender trees in autumn foliage. From the left foreground an irregular sluggish stream with various small branches winds away, and disappears around a low point. On the left is a narrow, muddy path bordered by tall trees from which the lower branches have been lopped. In the distance the stream is gleaming on the farther edge of the marsh under wooded hills which bound it, and near the château two cows, driven by a peasant, are walking along a narrow path. The light in the sky is concentrated on drifting masses of thin clouds near the middle of the composition.

“HE LOVES ME, HE LOVES ME NOT”

Two maidens in flowing robes, having gathered a large bunch of flowers, are trying their fortune in the old traditional way by plucking the petals from a daisy. One is seated, one standing, the latter leaning upon the shoulder of her companion, who holds in her lap a bunch of flowers. The group is in strong sunlight from the upper left and in vigorous relief against a background of trees in dense foliage. Through an opening between the branches is a glimpse of a pleasant wooded landscape beyond, with a small area of sky filled with summer clouds.

A SPRING DAY

IN a pleasant open orchard, with young trees in full blossom, a red and white cow lies on the short fresh grass, placidly ruminating. Beyond, the view extends across cultivated fields, with scattered trees in spring foliage, to a line of low tree-crowned hills in the distance. A single cloud drifts across the sky toward the zenith, and broad sunlight floods the whole landscape.

A CANAL OF VENICE

THE motive for this picture is found in a narrow canal in Venice, where some of the canals are so narrow that for a larger part of the day they are in a semi-twilight gloom, as the direct rays of the sun penetrate only at a certain hour between the lofty façades which bound these small waterways on either side. From the foreground of this picture the dark waters of the canal extend away under a bridge, with a single arch and tall parapet, to the middle distance, where a single gondola is seen approaching. On either side tall houses, the façades broken by many windows, doors and balconies, extend out of the picture, showing between them a palace, illuminated by a strong reflection, and above it a small area of sunlit sky.

THE FALCONERS

A LADY, mounted on a white horse, accompanied by a gentleman and attendants, some mounted and some on foot, is about to start on a hunting expedition with falcon and hounds. The party is assembled at the entrance to a mansion, where a broad staircase mounts under a high arched portico to a terrace above. In the foreground on the left a lad holds in leash two hounds. Near him is a richly dressed youth, who has uncovered his head in the presence of the lady, and beyond are two mounted men, one of them with a falcon and the other blowing an ivory hunting horn. Near the lady stands her attendant cavalier, apparently giving her the programme of the hunt, and beyond, a horseman, accompanied by a forester on foot, is seen approaching. The sky, which is partly covered by the great archway with its supporting columns, is filled with sunlit clouds, and beyond the group on the right is suggested a heavily wooded park.

CARL KAHLER, painter of the above-described work, was born at Linz, Austria, in 1856. He was a pupil of the Academy of Fine Arts of Munich and of Professors Löftz and Lindenschmidt, received several medals in Munich, and a special prize for his painting "The Death of Julius Cæsar." A picture of his entitled "Queen of the Season" was exhibited with great success in the principal cities of Europe, and was afterwards purchased by the Austrian National Gallery. Mr. Kahler continued his studies in Paris, and while there exhibited his work at the Salon. In 1886 he travelled in India, and then visited Australia, where, under the patronage of Governor Lord Loch and Lady Loch, he met with much success, and painted a number of portraits and a very important picture, "The Melbourne Cup," illustrating the Australian Spring Meeting, in which he incorporated a hundred portraits of the most prominent Australians. This picture was reproduced by Messrs. Goupil of Paris, and the reproductions, sold by subscription, realized 30,000 pounds sterling. While on a visit to New Zealand the artist executed a number of remarkable pictures of the volcanic region. In 1891 he came to San Francisco, where he stayed two years, painting a number of portraits of people of prominence and pictures of Angora cats. It was in San Francisco he completed his important work, "My Studio at Melbourne," which was begun in Australia. He came to New York in 1893, where he now has his studio. While here he has painted a number of successful portraits, including that of President Roosevelt's son "Archie," on his favorite pony, a number of thoroughbred horses, and numerous "cat pictures." Mr. Kahler is now engaged in painting what he considers his greatest work, a picture entitled "Steel, Steam, Electricity: the Giants of the World."

7. 2. 1922 • 4-12-1922
$138,420 THE NIGHT'S TOTAL

Mr. Joseph R. Delamar, Another Large
Buyer, Pays $10,000 for Schreyer's
"Moorish Sheik and Escort."

At the sale in Mendelssohn Hall last night of the collection of paintings that has been on exhibition in the American Art Galleries Senator W. A. Clark, of Montana, paid $40,000 for Jules Breton's "Harvesting the Poppies." The Senator occupied a seat in the second row and bid in person. Altogether Mr. Thomas E. Kirby secured $138,420 for the evening's session, a sensational advance over that of the first evening's sale on Thursday.

A ripple of interest was started when the bidding on a five inch Jacques began with $1,000, the painting finally going to Mr. Herman Schaus at $1,650. It was interesting to note that the Barbizon men all held their own, the paintings, without exception, starting at $1,000.

The Daubigny, "A Breezy Day in Summer," broke this record by starting at $2,000, and was bought by Messrs. Arthur Tooth & Son for $7,500. The Diaz "Forest of Fontainebleau," from the Sears collection, was bought by Mr. Herman Schaus for $3,800.

The next sensation was the Schreyer, "Moorish Sheik and Escort," which started at $3,000 and finally was bought by Mr. Joseph R. Delamar for $10,000.

The Jules Breton came next, starting at $10,000, and speedily narrowing to two bidders, Senator Clarke finally carrying it off for $40,000, amid much applause.

This painting represents a peasant man and woman stacking sheaves, while a girl is binding the sheaves into bundles. It is the close of a summer's day, and the light of the setting sun illumines a landscape.

A pastel by Jules Breton, "The Gleaners," was bought by Mr. Delamar for $4,600. Mr. Delamar also, after a spirited contest, got the Jean Béraud "The Casino at Monte Carlo" for $4,000. This picture came from the John Daly collection.

The larger Jacques, "Sheep and Pasture," started at $3,000, and was finally bought by Messrs. Scott and Fowles for $4,600. The small Jules Dupré, "Landscape," was started by Senator Clark at $1,000, and he succeeded in getting it for $2,500.

Highest priced among American paintings was "Crossing the Ferry," by Mr. Ridgway Knight, which was bought by Mr. W. Macdonald for $2,000. Mr. George de Forest Brush's "Sioux Brave" was bought by Messrs. Knoedler & Co. for $750.

Montana Senator Buys at Auction
Breton's "Harvesting the Poppies."

At the second night's session of the sale of paintings from various owners and estates held in Mendelssohn Hall last night Senator W. A. Clark was the hero of the occasion, paying $40,000 for Jules Breton's "Harvesting the Poppies," which was bought in by Mrs. E. A. Mathiesen at the sale of her husband's pictures in 1902 for $36,500. And a little while before he won out against his solitary rival in the bidding for the Breton he also bought a Corot for $1,150 and a Dupré for $2,500. It took a long time for Kirby to work the Breton up to the figure at which it was sold, the opening bid being $10,000. The bids came more slowly than is usual at a sale of this kind. When the canvas finally was knocked down to the Senator the audience expressed its appreciation of the price by a round of applause.

The second conspicuous buyer at the sale was Captain J. R. Delamar, who purchased a Van Marcke for $650, the large Schreyer, "Moorish Sheik and Escort," for $10,000, and another Breton for $4,600. He paid $1,700 for a Roybet, $4,000 for a Jean Béraud, and $2,550 for a Von Blass. C. K. J. Billings got a Pieters for $1,000 and a Clays for $1,175, while Gari Melchers showed his appreciation of one of the finest pictures in the whole collection by paying $750 for Couture's "La Femme au Chat." Among the other important pictures sold were Jacques's "Sheep" to Herman Schaus for $1,650, a Van Marcke to J. Wertheim for $1,600, Daubigny's "The Streamlet" to Knoedler & Co. for $2,650, a Diaz to J. Wertheim for $2,350, the same buyer getting a Rosa Bonheur for $1,025 and a Ziem for $2,250.

H. L. Duffie paid $2,700 for Vibert's "The Poet." Knoedlers gave $1,300 for Keyser's "Picture Book." D. W. Bucklin paid $1,000 for the "Sheep Pasture" by De Bock. Arthur Tooth & Son paid $7,500 for Daubigny's "Breezy Day," Schaus paid $3,800 for Diaz's "Forest of Fontainebleau," Scott & Fowles gave $4,600 for another Jacques, and F. Dessin paid $2,600 for the Lenbach "Magdalena." The total realized for the 103 pictures sold was $138,420.

Dear Sirs:-

Late in January we will sell at public sale the collection of Masterpieces belonging to Mr. H. S. Henry of Philadelphia. If you have any information relating to the pictures coming from your house, that will make our catalogue more interesting, we will be greatly obliged if you will favor us with all such information.

The following paintings are said to have come from your house:

"The Gossips" by Corot.

"Tiger and Serpent" by Delacroix.

"The Release of the Princess Olga" by Delacroix.

"Springing Lion" by Delacroix.

"Twilight" by Jules Dupré.

With assurances of appreciation, we are,

Yours very truly,

American Art Association
